

If the public were fully aware of this proposed deregulation of the media, there would certainly be an outcry. We must have more communication, current and reliable information and dialogue, NOT a increasingly narrowed communication network. this is basic to a full democracy as our relpresentatives surely know.